(b) Whenever a police officer has observed a vehicle engaged in an unlawful attempt to flee and elude and believes that there exists probable cause to tow said vehicle, and locates said vehicle on a public thoroughfare or within a parking lot under City Ordinance control or a parking lot open to the general public within the City of Rock Island, Illinois before the end of his or her watch, then said vehicle may be seized and impounded by the Rock Island Police Department. Notice shall be given to the person in control of the vehicle and the owner of the vehicle as described in subsection (g).

(c) Whenever a police officer has observed a vehicle engaged in an unlawful attempt to flee and elude and said vehicle is not located by the police before the end of his or her watch, said officer shall at the end of his or her watch prepare a written incident report which provides a record, if possible, of the make, model, year, color, state of registration, license plate number, identification of the driver, location of the incident and the date and time of the incident. Said report shall include information sufficient to support the determination of probable cause to tow, including information of the officer's attempts to stop the vehicle at the time of the occurrence, and that the driver failed or refused to stop after the officer activated the squad car's emergency signal equipment and that pursuit of the vehicle was abandoned for public safety reasons.

(d) Upon completion of the report, the officer shall give the report to the watch commander or his or her designee for interim seizure and impoundment authorization of said vehicle. Once authorized, said vehicle may be seized and impounded by police based upon the reporting officer's probable cause for a period of 96 hours prior to the filing of a "Notice of Intent to Impound" as described in subsection (e). If said vehicle is towed within the 96 hour period and before a "Notice of Intent to Tow" is filed as described in subsection (e), notice shall be given to the person in control of the vehicle and the owner of the vehicle as described in subsection (g). "Notice of Intent to Tow" under subsection (e) may be filed at any time after the officer prepares his or her written incident report.

(e) If said vehicle is not located within 96 hours, the police department may file a “Notice of Intent to Impound” with the Administrative Clerk of MUNICES. Once filed, said vehicle may be seized and impounded by police if located on a public thoroughfare or within a parking lot under City Ordinance control, or a parking lot open to the general public within the City of Rock Island, Illinois, pending a plenary hearing as described in Section 9-17(b) of this Code. 5. That the owner is entitled to have a preliminary hearing and/or post bond to retrieve the vehicle prior to the scheduled plenary hearing as described in subsection (g).
